

Michael Stelluto is an award-winning architect with more than 20 years of architectural experience. As design practice manager of Canny Architecture, his multidisciplinary role in the company includes design, documentation control, contract administration, project programming and office management. Michael has delivered projects of diverse scale, including substantial multi-residential as well as residential projects, hotels, commercial office buildings and institutional projects.

Miffy English is one of Canny Architecture's talented interior designers whose typical projects include contemporary, high-end residential designs. Her role includes full-service interior advice, from concept development to furnishings, artwork and garden sculptures. She believes homes should represent the people who live there. Every home should be practical and comfortable but, most importantly, those that live there need to love it.

"Lubelso is a business within Canny Group, which takes advantage of Canny's in-house architectural practice to offer all the benefits of an architecturally designed home for customers who don't feel the need for lengthy design development. This pre-designed home was one of the first projects delivered for the Lubelso business and an impressive example of Lubelso's core proposition. Its architectural integrity, luxury appointments and speedy delivery allowed the clients to progress their new home project faster than a traditional architect/builder process."
